As the calendar changes over to a new year is a natural and appropriate time to think about making changes in our lives. But the question arises, “how is 2017 going to truly be new, different, and better than previous years have been?”

How can this be the year you finally are able to change things about yourself and your life that you have longed to be different. The year that you become a person of faith instead of fear, optimism instead of cynicism, and patience instead of anger. How can you replace your selfishness with generosity, resentment with forgiveness, and worry with hope? Can 2017 be the year that you truly grow closer to God, are more filled with His Holy Spirit, and become more like Jesus than ever before?

For the next five weeks we want to answer such questions in new series of messages entitled “A New You For A New Year.” We will discover Biblical and practical ways to develop new attitudes, vision goals, relationships, and power for the new year that will result in you being better, stronger, happier, and more like Jesus.

Let’s take the limits off of God in 2017! I am confident that you will be a “new you” in this new year because of His power – not yours!

- New Vision for a New Year (22nd)
- New Goals for a New Year (29th)
- New Power for a New Year (February, 5th)
- New Relationships for a New Year (12th)
- New Mission for a New Year (19th)
